OUTDOORS

1. Start/Finish at Dutlas notice board , turn left to Coed-y-Hendre Mill, Coed y Hendre and Tyn y Coed farmhouse. Coed-y-Hendre is, possibly the oldest dwelling in Llanfair Waterdine. It is a timber framed house of cruck construction probably first built in the 14th or 15th century with many alterations and additions up to the 19th century. Some of the farm buildings also date back to the 15th century.

2. After Tyn-Coed at next crossroads (signed Cwm Farm ahead) turn right up the hill. In Spring the wood on your right is a vibrant blue of bluebells woods, whilst to your left you can see down to Cwm Farm and its fishponds .

This is not the legal definitive map. It is a working copy only. For information purposes only.

3. Approximately 150 metres before you get to the dwelling marked Pen-Llan on the map (and Llanwooley by its owners) you have the option to take footpath on right over fields which re-joins the lane near Upper Tregodfa. Follow the path through the stiles and gates and, just after you pass the back of Upper Tregodfa the path goes steeply down to re-join the lane at (6). Otherwise just stay on the lane.

4. At the T-junction at bottom of a steep downward hill turn right. Wait awhile at the gates opposite and take in the views of the Teme Valley towards the main village of Llanfair, and Knighton beyond.

5. Follow the lane, ignoring a turning to your left, past Lower Tregodfa farm, Upper Tregodfa (6) believed to date from the 15th century with many original features inside) , the Runnis Chapel and The Runnis back to your car.
